Time to Celebrate Fourth of July

Fireworks, backyard BBQs, and family get-togethers come to my mind when I think about Fourth of July.

What about you?

Fourth of July is a great time to celebrate with your family.

I love holidays because they are a great time to thank the Lord for His goodness, to cultivate family unity, and to impart values to my children.

With grateful for the freedoms we enjoy, I remember back each Fourth of July to that day when brave men put their signature on a document that would jeopardize their lives. The Declaration of Independence (you can read a copy in the back of this book!) declared the colonists free from the rule of King George III and the rule of England. It was a bold move followed by the Revolutionary War. I thank the Lord each Fourth of July for the United States of America.

Being together is another blessing! We always do something as a family, laughing and making memories. Sometimes we dress up in red, white, and blue. Other times we make red, white, and blue food. We love fireworks—watching or setting off our own in a safe way.

Fourth of July is also a great time to instill values in my children. Freedom and a love of liberty are things I want my children to value all of their lives. I talk about freedom on the Fourth of July and why it is such a precious thing.

It's time to celebrate freedom. Are you ready?

Celebrate Freedom with Festivities

There are so many ways to celebrate. We love fireworks and parades.

Hang the Flag

Early in the morning, get up and hang the flag outside. Nothing says “Happy Birthday, America” like hanging the flag.

Go See Fireworks

Every city in America probably has her own fireworks display. In our hometown, the fireworks display is at Lake Monroe. Fireworks are spectacular, but even more so over the water.

Here in Florida, fireworks are legal, so we often purchase fireworks with another family and set them off in a safe way, being very careful to watch little ones and make sure no one gets too close.

Sparklers are lots of fun for children!

Attend a Parade

Many cities have parades on the Fourth of July and are such fun to watch together as a family. Be sure to get there early for a good seat. You might want to buy little flags and wave them as floats, bands, and people go by.

Create Your Own Neighborhood Parade

If there is no parade to attend, why not create your own neighborhood parade. Gather the children together with bikes and wagons. Have everyone dress up in red, white, and blue. Get lots of little flags and red, white, and blue streamers to decorate bikes, wagons, and pets with. You can parade down the sidewalk.

CELEBRATE FOURTH OF JULY

Celebrate with Singing & Reading

We have some beautiful patriotic songs in our nation. Do you ever sing them together as a family?

Our family loves singing together at Christmas, but why not Fourth of July?

Sing Patriotic Songs

Here are some suggestions for family singing:

God Bless America

Star Spangled Banner

My Country 'Tis of Thee

God Bless the U.S.A.

If you don't have the music, look it up online. You can often get free patriotic music, or at least guitar chords.

If you don't play an instrument, there's good old YouTube which has several versions of every patriotic song. Chromecast it and sing along!

Listen to a Radio Drama together as a family.

Focus on the Family's Adventures in Odyssey has "Friends, Family, and Countrymen: The American Revolution" part I and part II.

Watch Historical Movies

Of course, we all know about The Patriot, which we watch with Clearplay® at our house. In addition here are some other movies you might want to watch as a family:

Sons of Liberty (1939) Tells the story of Haym Solomon

The Howards of Virginia (1940)

Johnny Tremain (1957 Walt Disney) Based on the book.

John Adams (7 Part Mini-Series) watch with Clearplay®

And for the kids:

Liberty Kids (cartoon—watch on YouTube or purchase the whole set cheaply online)

We also love watching the Drive thru History series on American History.

Read Old Books & Letters Aloud

Dig up old stories, books, letters, and documents to read aloud. Has your family ever read the Declaration of Independence? Letters of the Founding Fathers or Mothers? Listened to Patrick Henry's "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death" Speech?

Here is a link to Founders Online: founders.archives.gov/

This website has correspondence and other writings of six influential movers and shakers during the American Revolution: George Washington, Ben Franklin, John Adams and his family, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton, and James Madison.

Celebrate Freedom with Food & Fun

Food always makes celebration more fun! And it's not just about the taste, but the presentation.

Be sure to decorate the table with a Fourth of July theme.

Red, White, & Blue Decorating Fun

It's easy to mix and match red, blue, and white table linens to get an Americana theme going. Add little flags and other patriotic images for a festive table.

Red, White, & Blue Dressing Fun

It's fun to dress up in red, white, and blue.

Red, White, & Blue Food Fun

There are so many ways to bring Red, White, & Blue to the Table. It's fun to serve red, white, and blue food. Here are some ideas:

- Frost a cake with red, white and blue frosting to look like a flag on a sheet cake
- Decorate a white frosted sheet cake with blueberries, strawberries, and bananas to create a flag
  - Put bananas, strawberries, and blueberries on a skewer to make red, white, and blue fruit kabobs
  - Make a gelatin parfait with red gelatin, blue gelatin, and whipping cream
  - Make a red, white, and blue trifle with white cake, strawberries, blueberries, and whipped cream
- Create a vegetable flag with cherry tomatoes and cauliflower for stripes and use blueberries for the stars
- Tie a blue and white ribbon around a bundle of red Twizzlers®

Backyard BBQ

What is more American than a backyard BBQ? Cook up some hot dogs, sausages, and hamburgers. Invite friends and neighbors, asking them to bring sides like baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, and cherry cobbler with vanilla ice cream.

Americana Dinner

Plan a meal that has only "Good Old American" Food. You could eat fried chicken, corn on the cob, and apple pie. What other foods say, "U.S.A." to you?

Let's Go On a Picnic!

Yes, I know the parks are crowded, but it's so fun to pack up a picnic and head to the great outdoors on Fourth of July. You could go to a nearby park, a lake, the beach, or maybe the backyard.

Play games like corn hole, horse shoes, croquet, soccer, football, baseball, or Frisbee.

Let's Teach Our Children to Value Freedom

Fourth of July is a great time to teach our children about freedom.

- 1) We can teach them the Story of Liberty that started back in the nation of Israel, led to the Magna Charta, included the Mayflower Compact, and stirred the hearts of the Founding Fathers and Founding Mothers.

Together, we can learn more about the events that led up to July 4, 1776. The Great Awakening in the 1730s and 1740s stirred men's hearts up for freedom and brought a sense of unity that crossed colony boundaries. Men were united by a passion for Jesus crossed denominational lines.

We can read historical fiction books set during the time of the American Revolution aloud during Fourth of July week.

We can play Made for Trade, a board game set in Colonial Times.

Celebrate with Hands-On Fun

Children learn so much better when their hands are engaged.

Make a Flag

There are so many ways to make a flag. Start with a large white piece of construction paper.

You can color in a flag.

You can paste little bits of paper or tile to make a flag.

You can use red and blue paint to paint a flag

You can use little bits of tissue paper and glue it on to create a flag.

You can make a flag out of paper chains.

You can glue on pom-poms to make a flag.

Dress Up and Act It Out

Dress up like people dressed during the American Revolution and make up a skit together. You can perform it for friends or family. Or you can videotape it and watch it together. Relax and enjoy the drama.

Make a Radio Drama

What if you travel back in time and relive the events through a radio drama. You will have to write a script, choose voices for each character, and decide what events you will cover. This is fun to do! And you can pull it out and listen to it for years to come.

Make a Timeline

You can make a timeline of some of the events leading up to Fourth of July in the Year of Our Lord, Seventeen Hundred Seventy-Six.

If you have a roll of paper, roll it out to the length of the kitchen table. If not, tape several white sheet of paper together and lay the long line out on the kitchen table.

The beginning of the timeline should be 1700 and the end 1800. Mark off the years in between evenly with a ruler and label them.

Now, you are ready to add figures.

Here are the dates. The Timeline Figures follow in 2 sizes.

AD 1741 Jonathan Edwards preaches Sinners in the Hands of an Angry God

Declaration of Independence

In CONGRESS, July 4, 1779

A DECLARATION

By the REPRESENTATIVES of the

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

In GENERAL CONGRESS assembled.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. — That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. — Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

MEREDITH CURTIS

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their Public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them in to compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of the Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to Civil Power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

CELEBRATE FOURTH OF JULY

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by mock Trial, for punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule in these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty and Perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy of the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

MEREDITH CURTIS

Nor have We been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by the Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these united Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. — And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.
